

Every place has a story.

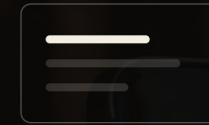

A visit should help you understand it.

The background image shows a traditional Nepalese temple complex, likely in Kathmandu, during the "blue hour" of dusk. The architecture features multiple tiers of roofs with ornate carvings and golden spires. In the foreground, a person with a backpack is standing on a stone-paved plaza, holding a smartphone to take a photo of the temple. The overall mood is serene and historical.

Nepal Yatra

Scan a heritage site.
Discover its story in your language.
Find what to explore next.

Curiosity happens at the site. Answers can be harder to find.

Signs offer limited context.

Searches scatter the story
across different sources.

Story

Language barriers make information harder to understand.

Guides and reliable internet
are not always available.

Curiosity happens at the site.

Answers can be harder to find.

Visitors leave with photographs and unanswered questions.

A heritage guide that starts with one scan

Scan

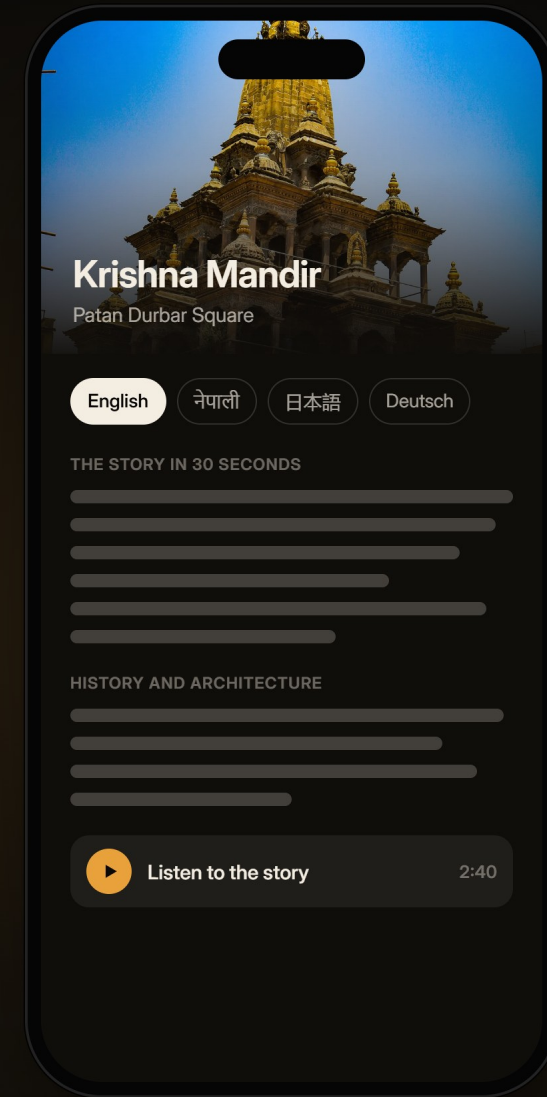

Open the story of the place in front of you.

Understand

Read or listen in your preferred supported language.

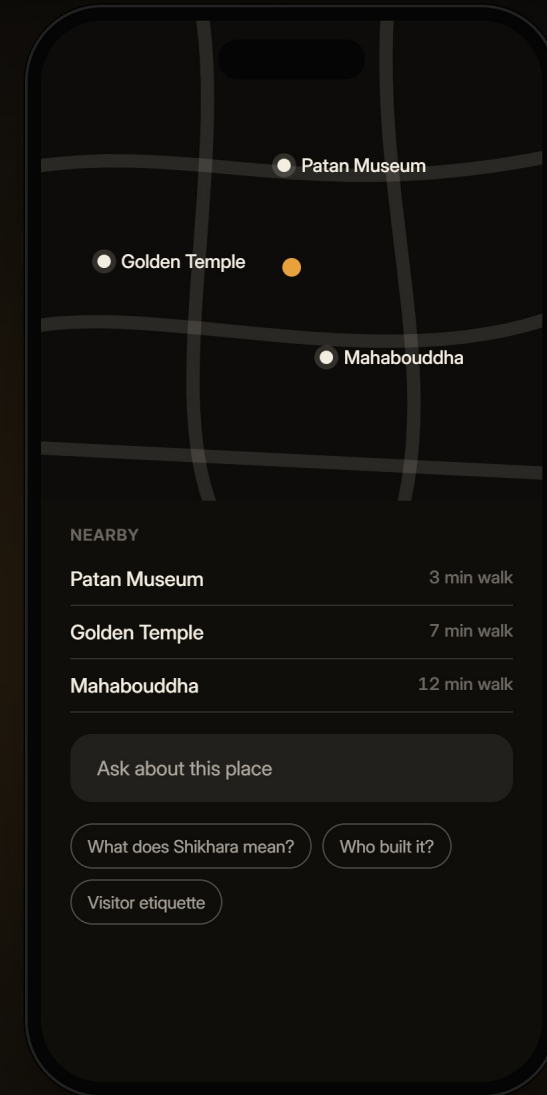

Scan.

Explore

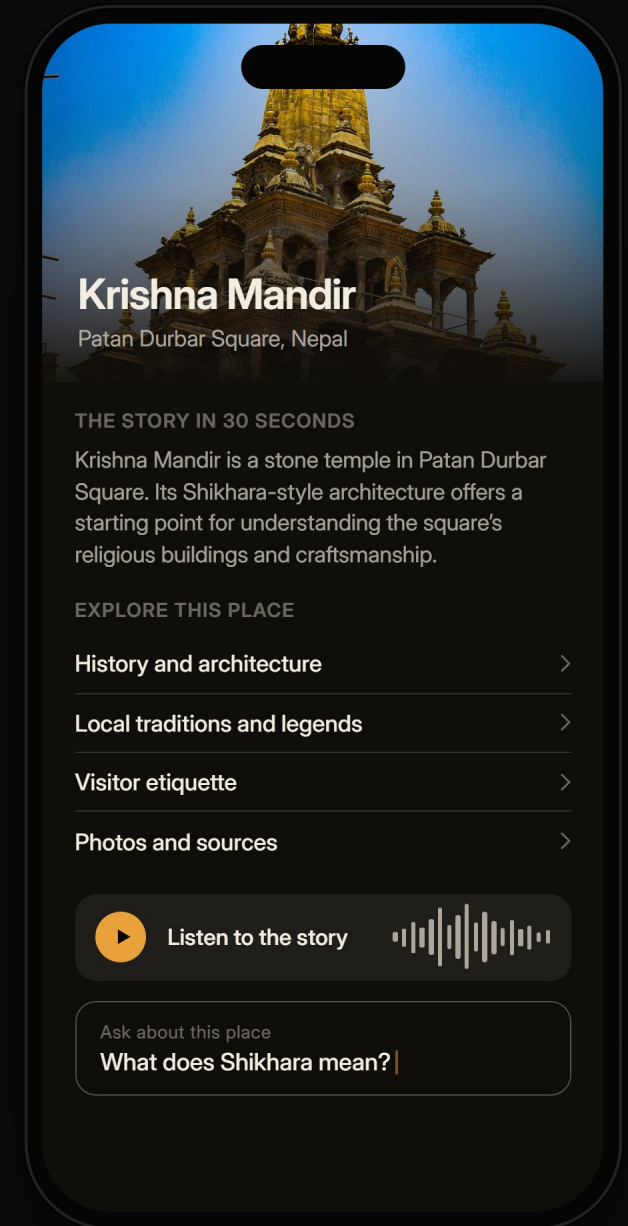

Ask questions and discover nearby places.

Scan. Understand.

The story first. More detail when you want it.

- The story in 30 seconds
- Explore by interest
- Listen to the story
- Ask about this place

Illustrative product screen. Heritage example source: Nepal Tourism Board, Kathmandu Valley guide.

Published research and local knowledge belong together

Published sources

Heritage records, museum material, academic research, and official publications.

Field research

Interviews with historians, guides, caretakers, and local communities.

Community contributions

Missing stories, corrections, photographs, and translation feedback.

Reviewers check submissions before publication.

Sources

Review status

Revision history

Last review date

Each article records its sources, review status, revision history, and last review date.

How a claim becomes published information

- 1 Record the claim and its source.
- 2 Classify the account.
- 3 Compare supporting and conflicting evidence.
- 4 Assign an appropriate reviewer.
- 5 Publish the decision with attribution.
- 6 Track corrections and review dates.

When sources disagree

Explain the disagreement. Preserve attribution. Mark unresolved claims.

When AI cannot support an answer

"We don't have enough reviewed information to answer that yet."

Essential context when connectivity drops

Connected

Online experience

Full stories and images

Questions grounded in reviewed content

Supported language selection

Planning and booking access

Essential context when connectivity drops

No connection

Online experience

Full stories and images

Questions grounded in reviewed content

Supported language selection

Planning and booking access

Planned offline experience

A compact essential story

Reading through our installed scanner

Languages included or downloaded

A visible content version

The proposed QR capsule carries a small amount of text.
Downloaded packs can provide more.

How one scan works offline

Encoded in the QR code

Site ID and content version

Essential facts as plain text

Readable by any camera app

With our app installed

Site packs downloaded in advance

Full story, audio, and images offline

Languages bundled in the pack

When connectivity returns

Compares the content version

Fetches new content and media

Enables AI questions and booking

Any scanner shows the facts. The app plus a site pack shows the full story.

A plan built around the visitor

"I have four hours. I love architecture and local food, and I want to walk less than three kilometres."

4 hours

Architecture

Local food

Under 3 km

Adjust for time, interests, budget, and walking distance.

Check opening hours and availability before confirming.

Illustrative afternoon

Two revenue streams

Essential heritage stories stay free.

Subscription

For visitors who want more than the free story.

Unlimited questions about a place

Detailed multi-day trip planning

Saved routes across a whole visit

Pricing will be tested in the pilot.

Two revenue streams

Essential heritage stories stay free.

Commissions

On eligible bookings made through partners.

Hotels · Booking.com, Tripadvisor

Taxis · Pathao, inDrive

Restaurants and cafés

Tours and attraction tickets

Partner terms will vary.

Two revenue streams

Essential heritage stories stay free.

Commissions

On eligible bookings made through partners.

Hotels · Booking.com, Tripadvisor

Taxis · Pathao, inDrive

Restaurants and cafés

Tours and attraction tickets

Partner terms will vary.

Illustrative transaction

NPR 2,000

booking

× 10%

commission

NPR 200

gross revenue

Example assumptions, before costs. Partner terms will vary.

A trusted information layer for physical places.

Don't just visit a place. Understand it.

Nepal Yatra

Thank you.

Questions welcome.